

Project Management Institute Celebrates 2016 Leadership Institute Master Class Graduates

PHILADELPHIA - SEPTEMBER 2016

Project Management Institute (PMI), the world's largest not-for-profit membership association for the project management profession, celebrated the graduates of its 2016 Leadership Institute Master Class at its annual Leadership Institute Meeting 2016—North America.

The Leadership Institute is the PMI arm that supports the many volunteers who are leaders in the regional chapters that support PMI.

The Leadership Institute Master Class is a PMI funded leadership development program that combines interactive learning, experiential activities, case studies and personal assessments to equip global PMI chapter leaders with the techniques and frameworks to work with and through others to drive organizational success in their PMI communities and work teams.

A select group of volunteers are chosen from among a competitive application pool and commit to the year-long program that meets three times in-person and regularly in virtual environments.

Graduates of the program gain the following:

- Knowledge of how key stakeholders view their leadership effectiveness through a 360 degree self-evaluation and personalized coaching sessions.
- External influence skills that can be applied with work teams, boards, project management practitioners, senior management and other critical stakeholders.
- Enhanced executive image and communication skills.
- Broadened network of global project managers.
- Global leadership skills and enhanced skills required to manage in a multicultural environment.
- Strengthened abilities to develop others and build strong teams.
- Critical insight from in-depth thought leadership discussions regarding future trends of the project management profession and its impact on organizations and the individual practitioners.
- Collaboration and strategic management skills to effectively and efficiently lead.
